Train & Co's Line.

ENOCH TRAIN & CO., Proprietors of the Boston and Liverpool Line of Packets, hereby give notice that they have made extensive arrangements with the Western Rail Road Corporations, in connection with the Rail Roads in the Western States, and Steamboats on the Lakes, for the forwarding of pre-paid passengers from Boston to the Canada and Western States, and are now selling at their office in Boston, and at their authorized agencies, pre paid certificates of passage as follows:

| " | St. Louis, Mo., | 22 00 |
| " | Milwaukee, Wis., | 23 00 |

Children under twelve years of age at the time of embarkation, five dollars less than the above; and infants under twelve months thirteen dollars less than the above named prices, to Boston or Albany, and other places in proportion; but we will not issue a pre-paid certificate for children under twelve years of age, unless accompanied by a passenger over twelve years, who must be paid for at the same time and on the same certificate.

The above prices embrace a steerage passage from Liverpool to Boston, by any of our splendid Line of Packets; provisions at sea according to the undermentioned dietary scale; doctor's attendance and medicine on board when required; Import charges at Boston, and all expenses of transportation of passengers and baggage from the ship at Boston, to the destination agreed upon.

In addition to any provisions which the passengers may themselves bring, the following quantities, at least, of water and provisions will be supplied to each steerage passenger of twelve years of age and over, every week during the passage, commencing on the day of sailing, and at less ages in proportion:

Two oz. of Tea; 8 oz. of Sugar; 5 lbs. of Oatmeal; 2½ lbs. of Rice; 10 lbs. Potatoes; 2 lbs. Flour; 2 lbs. Rice.

Children under twelve years of age (not including infants,) are furnished with six pounds of bread stuffs per week, the usual allowance of water, and half allowance of Tea and Sugar.

AS soon as our Liverpool House informs us per steamer of the names of pre-paid passengers embarked, we publish them in the Boston Daily Evening Voice, and also notify each purchaser of pre-paid certificates, either directly or through our agents.

On the arrival of any of our ships in the outer harbor, we immediately dispatch an agent on board, to give pre-paid passengers the necessary instructions regarding their route westward.

Bedding and utensils for eating and drinking, must be provided by passengers; and those going to the Canadas, or Western states, must furnish their own provisions from Boston.

In calling public attention to the subjoined list of the Ships which comprise our Boston Line of Packets, we believe that its general reputation as the first of American Lines is sufficient warrant for its establishment. Thousands of Letters which have been sent by American Immigrants to their friends in every part of Europe, have borne ample testimony to the rapid and safe passages made by those Ships, and to the superior Health, Comfort and Safety which their Passengers have hitherto enjoyed. Many of them are well recognized as vessels which have gained the very highest character, by a succession of unusual rapid passages.

Packet Ships which are dispatched in this LINE:

These magnificent Ships are ALL AMERICAN BUILT and constructed expressly for Packets. They are all new and of the FIRST Class, being built on the most improved principles and of the best materials. They possess all the modern improvements which conduce to health and comfort, as a superior system of lighting and ventilating, the Patent Refrigerator, and a careful medical attendant on board.

The Captains have been carefully selected as first-rate sailors and men of intensity, and an experienced surgeon will accompany each ship, at an expense defrayed by Under this the best and most possible conveyance to America.

As Train & Co. have made such arrangements in Liverpool as will PROTECT their friends from the frauds and impositions sometimes practised there, they believe that those who pre-pay passages cannot but see the advantage of using safe to engage with a Respectable House, on favorable terms, for a well known Line of Magnificent Packet ships, and in this way avoid the disrespect, annoyance and delay which they so often experience, when they engage with Agents who are but slightly connected with furnish a Ship.

As a proof that their Immigration business is conducted on principles uniformly Honorable and Humane, and that they have been Gratified in the most liberal fulfilment of all their engagements, we are permitted to refer to the very Rev. THEOBALD MATHEW, Cork, Ireland.

EDITORIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE SENTINEL.

Madison, Jan. 17, '54.

In Senate this morning, Mr. Harvey, of Rock Co. was sworn into office, just in time to hear the minority report of Messrs. Wakely and Vittum in the case of his seat, contested by Mr. Briggs. I understand that Mr. Briggs supposed Mr. Bovee to be contesting his seat vigorously, and had no intention of pressing his own claim with much earnestness.

The Senate refused "our French fellow citizens" 500 copies of the message in their vernacular; and then ordered two copies of Hunt's Gazeteer to each member. The House is already supplied with the latter.

The bill amending the charter of the Lake Shore R. R. Co., amended by the committee to such an extent that its own father will not know it, was ordered engrossed.

The bills introduced in Senate were mostly directed to the repeal or amendment (?) of laws on the statute book. Among them were the following:

Repealing chap. 50, laws of '53. This law of '53 is an amendment to chap. 19, R. S., making provision as to levy and return of school district taxes, and as to voters.

Amending sec. 8, chap. 294, laws of '53. This is the charter of the Racine & Portage City R. R. Co., and the section is that which locates the route, and defines the powers of the company.

Repealing chap. 79, Laws of '53. This is the law fixing upon Sundays and the four holidays, as regards payment of promissory notes. I do not know what object there is in repealing it.

There were two others, but I have not the books here to refer to. Senator Allen introduced still another railroad charter, termed the "St. Croix & Mississippi."

In the House, there was a petition presented by Mr. Hale, setting forth that sundry persons—"speculators"—were secretly buying up tax titles to lands of non-residents, and bleeding innocent purchasers of those lands, and praying the interposition of the Legislature,

Mr. Desnoyers introduced a resolution ordering 500 copies of the Governor's Message in French. We shall see to-morrow whether the House cares more for the Frenchmen than does the Senate.

Mr. Parkison gave notice of a bill to revive capital punishment. There is already one to the same purpose introduced by Mr. Webster, and it meets with a good deal of favor.

We had a brief debate of Mr. Worthington's resolution (quoted yesterday,) instructing committees against special legislation. The mover supported it with cogent arguments, insisting that now, at the outset of the session, and before committees have reported, was the time for a stand upon this subject. He quoted the constitutional provision for general laws, and wished to see the House show that it was in earnest in desiring a short session.

Mr. Hull opposed the resolution, urging the necessity of much special legislation, and, strangely enough, pointing to the vast number of local and special laws, as arguments against general ones. For instance, he mentioned the fact that some 50 plank road special charters have been passed, as a reason why we should have no general law on the subject. "Let us," said Mr. H. "have no more of these general laws, to lumber up the statute book!" And so the House voted—the same members who have so lately had occasion to recognize that almost obsolete instrument, the Constitution, agreeing, without a division, to ignore one of its plainest provisions! The people can judge of the probability of a short session.

There was a debate, somewhat prolonged, upon the proposition not to print bills without direct order, but this movement towards economy was nipped in the bud.

Among the reports of Committees was one in favor of a State Insane Asylum, accompanied by a resolution in favor of a tax for the purpose.—The report was adopted, and a bill will be prepared before long.

Mr. Desnoyers, from select committee, reported a bill providing for the removal of the County Seat of Brown Co., from Depere to Green Bay; if the people so vote; and giving an opportunity for an expression of opinion at the ensuing spring election.

The bill repealing the odious small-bill law had considerable of a "talking to" in committee of the whole. Mr. Ernest, of Lafayette, (who said that he "did'nt know that he was opposed to the bill"—and that is an old method of his—a way he has of disarming and putting to sleep the friends of a bill) wished time to consider; and so did Mr. Baker, of Dane, wish time to consider. Messrs. Webster, Wheeler and Hale spoke smartly in favor of immediate action; Mr. Hull moved to strike out all after the enacting clause, but it was no go; Mr. Knowlton expressed himself as in favor of the principle of the bill, but pointed out several particulars in which it was defective. Finally Mr. Bartlett moved the reference of the bill to the Judiciary Committee, to be perfected and the motion prevailed.

Then followed the reading of a petition, or rather letter, to the Legislature, from sundry waggish citizens of Grant county, talking quite plainly to the members about the enormity of their offences in ordering newspapers, and in various other ways—recommending the publication of the laws sometime before the Legislature meets to repeal them—and advocating biennial sessions—the latter the least sensible idea of the whole. After this the House adjourned, not making another attempt at an afternoon session, before there is any business to do.

I learn from home that the objections which were stated by me to the bill which is proposed for authorizing our county to loan $100,000 for building a Court House, &c., have occurred to others. The bill will of course be submitted to the people; and rejected by them, if presented in the shape which rumor has given to it. Perhaps, if there is no better way of getting along with the matter, the people might be left to elect three commissioners. There can be little doubt that they would be sufficiently attentive to their own interests to vote for competent men. Of course the bill is not yet perfected, and has not been introduced, and all apprehensions may be groundless. Mr. Hadley has it in charge, and is disposed to do right.

Wednesday, 9 A. M.—After reading the Message connected by "Barstow and thebalance," and the very racy one administered to the members last evening by our plain-spoken locum tenens in the Sentinel, it seemed hardly possible that the Governor of the 4, 84's would have anything left him to say, later in the evening; but Gov. McArthur gave the vast crowd which filled the hall a very fair Message, abounding in fair hits—his own pretty generally good, but too many raps furnished by the Kitchen Cabinet to pay off old scores in their respective localities. Ike Woodle presided with all the devil-may-care nonchalance which becomes him. The Governor said that he had directed a leather medal to be presented to Mr. Elmore, of the state of Mukwonago, for his services to the Fox R. Valley R. R.; a compass with a fixed needle to the Directors of the M. & M. R. R. Co., to enable them to run straight lines; and two shovels to the Directors of the Southern Wisconsin Co., whose labors have been arduous in the extreme. John B. Macy, it was stated, on reliable information, was to frank the iron needed for the Valley R. R. Co. The continuance of the practice of making conflicting laws, and a great many of them was recommended; as also that they be on no account published. The Maine liquor law was touched upon, and Gov. McArthur, was in the same situation as Gov. Barstow—divided upon the question, the former being in favor of the liquor, but against the law. Schools were decried as making the people too smart—the Emigrant Commissioner directed to send none here who don't vote the straight Loco Foco ticket—John Gregory was appointed Com'r, to reside on Coney Island, with Tim. O'Brien for assistant. The Atlanta Bank was constituted the State Bank. The general safety to life upon our railroads was alluded to, and due commiseration expressed for an alleged late accident to Levi Blossom on the Lake Shore Railroad (No one seemed to take this last hit.) Bonds for $30,000,000 were directed to be issued in aid of railroads, and W. P. F. appointed to negotiate them. The State Gelogist was stated to have discovered the ruins of Babylon at Aztalan, and to have brought home several bricks, in his hat. Mr. William's claim to the dauphinage was recognized, and Capt. Hawley directed to proceed with his dredgeboat to France, to place him on the throne. Measures were directed to be taken, whereby those intending to commit murder could call at a justice's office, and give bail the day previous in the sum of $50, so that they need not be annoyed afterwards—also to make murder matter of book account. Sat. Clark was sent off with the Winnebagoes to parts unknown. The High Court of Hernia was duly recognized, and Judge D. H. Brown made perpetual.

The above are a few of the "drives." The list of officers, exhibiting considerable local malice, some good hits, and much so-so matter, was read, and the meeting fizzled out. W. H. W.

County Courts.

The County Court system in this state has never been fully satisfactory to the people, as is evident from the repeated attempts to modify or to ablish it. In our opinion some change is necessary. What that shall be, and when to make it, are open questions.

If the present system is to be retained, there ought to be a change in the method of paying the county judges. As it is now, they are paid, so to speak, "by the piece"—a shilling for doing this, a sixpence for doing that, &c. And these minute fees for minute acts they must themselves collect, from those for whose benefits the services are rendered. And again, as their fees depend upon the number of proceedings, they are in general pecuniarily and directly interested in favor of complicating and prolonging business. That this last has a very important influence, however, we will not pretend to say—although we remember that Sydney Smith accounts for the greater activity of the clergymen of a certain denomination, than those of the established church, from the fact that the former are paid "by the groan," whereas the latter have a regular salary. If clergymen are governed by such considerations, it is not impossible that lawyers may feel the influence of them in some degree. But at any rate, this way of paying judges is an improper and degrading one. They should have a regular salary, fixed by law, and paid by the state or county. In no other way can the dignity and impartiality of the court be secured.

But we are not sure that a more radical change would not be better. As at present constituted the county court is rather a rival of the circuit court, than a subordinate court. Its jurisdiction is large enough to cover most ordinary subjects of litigation, and its decisions can only be reviewed by the supreme court, in the same manner as those of the circuit courts. Thus there are two separate and independent tribunals in each county for the trial of common law cases, from which the suitor may select the one he thinks, from any reason, will be most favorable to himself. If they should be both equally learned and impartial, this would make no difference to the immediate parties; but if there should be a difference, it gives the plaintiff the advantage. This, however, is a matter of minor consequence.

The great evil consists in breaking up the judicial establishment into a multitude of separate petty jurisdictions, thus multiplying the chances of error, ignorance and disagreement, and precluding the benefit to be derived from concentrating business in a few courts of greater dignity, learning and experience. There are perhaps fifty counties in the State—some of them are old and thickly settled—some new and sparsely settled. It is possible that there are fifty lawyers in the state fit to be judges—but, admitting that, we may set it down for certain that they are not so distributed that there is one of them in each county. Now if there is to be a judge elected in each of these counties, from such material as the county affords, who goes on to hold his courts without any communication with any other, and only correcting his errors as his decisions are from time to time overruled by the Supreme Court—it is easy to see that in time there will be a different administration of justice in each county, and a local common law of error established more or less gross, according to the capacity of the different judges. The circuit court instead of doing anything to harmonise these differences of administration, will only add its own to the number. Thus the law will be one in the woods and another in the clearing—one before Judge A. and another before Judge B., or rather there will be no law at all.

In our opinion it would be good policy, now or hereafter, to take away from the county courts all their jurisdiction except as to probate matters, and then to increase the number of the circuit judges so that there should be four terms of court at least in every county in each year. In this way, we should have better judges, who would have the benefit of a large and continual experience—the practice would be more uniform in different counties—there would be less suspicion of partiality or local influence—the ability and integrity of the courts would command the respect of the people—and as the business would be more expeditiously done, and fewer errors committed, the system would be more economical for the State and for suitors.

THE ASTOR LIBRARY.—This collection numbers now about 80,000 volumes, and will be opened to the public next week. When completed, it is expected that the Library will comprise about 100,000 volumes.

The Library Hall is 100 by 64 feet on the floor, and 50 feet in height.

Many of the works already obtained, are of great value, and exceedingly rare. Among other literary curiosities may be named the first edition of Shakspeare, which cost $400, from the Duke of Buckingham's Library.—There are grammars and dictionaries, treating of more than 100 languages; about 2,500 volumes relating to the fine arts; 3,700 treating of Theology; 5,000 of a bibliographical and literary character, and 400 volumes are devoted to entomology alone.

Other departments of science and literature are equally represented.

The building is in the Byzantine style of architecture, and, including the ground on which it stands, cost $100,000.—Ohio. Dem. Press. 13th.

Fines and their Clear Proceeds.

Messrs Editors:

In the Governor's message I find the following statement:

One of the provisions of the Constitution which I feel it my duty to press upon your attention, is that relating to fines, and is as follows: "The clear proceeds of all fines, collected in the several counties, for any breach of the penal laws, shall become a part of the School Fund." Provision has been made by law, requiring these fines to be paid into the State Treasury, through the County Treasurers. The amount paid into the Treasury from this source, is so trifling, that it is very apparent there has been a reckless disregard of this provision on the part of county and town officers, into whose hands these fines are paid.

If a portion of the school fund of our State is thus being diverted from its legitimate use, it is an important evil that should be remedied. It is my purpose in this article to briefly consider this question.

What constitutes the school fund? The 2nd section of Article 10 of the constitution, answers this question distinctly. It says:

"The proceeds of all lands that have been or hereafter may be granted by the United States to this state, for educational purposes, (except the lands heretofore granted for the purposes of a university,) and all moneys, and the clear proceeds of all property, that may accrue to the state by forfeiture or escheat, and all moneys which may be paid as an equivalent for exemption from military duty, and the clear proceeds of all fines collected in the several counties for any breach of the penal laws, and all moneys arising from any grant to the state, where the purposes of such grant are not specified, and the five hundred thousand acres of land to which the state is entitled by the provisions of an act of congress, entitled 'An act to appropriate the proceeds of the sales of the public lands, and to grant pre-emption rights,' approved the fourth day of September, one thousand eight hundred and forty-one, and also the five per centum of the nett proceeds of the public lands to which the state shall become entitled on her admission into the union, (if congress shall consent to such appropriation of the two grants last mentioned,) shall be set apart as a separate fund, to be called the school fund."

The moneys derived from these several sources are to be set apart, as a separate fund, to be called the school fund. The constitution thus defines distinctly what shall constitute the school fund, and having defined it, and declared that it shall be set apart as a separate fund, would seem to preclude the Legislature from giving it a different definition, or from adding to, or diminishing the sources from which this separate fund is derived. True, the Legislature might specify additional funds to be appropriated to the same general purpose, but separate and distinct from this fund. I am not aware that the Legislature has created an additional school fund. Assuming that I am correct on this point, I shall consider this question, with a view to the fund, defined in the Constitution. Now the constitution defines the source in question, as "the clear proceeds of all fines collected in the several counties for any breach of the penal laws." The question at once arises, what are the clear proceeds of all fines &c? Does it mean all fines? if so, it would have been expressed in that manner, and the words "clear proceeds" would be superfluous; and, such words, as all monies received for fines, or all fines, would be amply sufficient to express such a definition. But we are not permitted to regard the words "clear proceeds" as superfluous.—They are not placed in the constitution, carelessly, thoughtlessly without a clear, distinct, definite meaning. And that there might be no doubt as to the meaning attached to the words "clear proceeds," they are used in the same section in another connection, which appears to me to place the meaning attached to them by the framers of the constitution beyond a doubt. It says, all monies, and the clear proceeds of all property, that may accrue to the State by forfeiture, or escheat, &c., in defining the sources from which this separate fund is to be derived. Here these words are used in connection with property, in contradistinction to "all monies," and in such a manner, as evidently to intend a disposition of the property, before the application of the "clear proceeds" to the school fund. Take a case; the property of A consisting we will say of a farm, escheats to the State under the 3d section of article ninth of the constitution; the title to which shall have failed from defect of heirs.—Now it is apparent that the land so escheating would not at once become school lands, and subject to disposal as such, but would require to be disposed of by the State, and then, the clear proceeds after deducting the costs of disposal, would pertain to the school fund. To make this point still plainer, if possible, take another case; A dies possessed of real estate worth say $10,000, but without heirs; at the time of his death he owes debts to the amount of $3,000; B, a creditor, administers upon the estate; the cost of administering is, say, $250, leaving a surplus of $6,750. All of the interest of A. over and above that of his creditors, escheated at once, at his death, to the State. Now what in this case are the clear proceeds? The answer is obvious—$6,750, the amount which is left after paying creditors and the costs of administration,—the amount which would belong to the heirs, if any existed—this, it seems to me, would be the sum that pertains to the school fund. If I am right, then the words "clear proceeds," in the constitution in the sense which they are used in connection with property, have a clear signification, as being that which remains after deducting the expenses of disposing of the same.

Again, in the absence of a Judicial interpretation of the meaning of the words "clear proceeds," it may be necessary to consider them in connection with common business transactions to ascertain their obvious signification in every day matters; because, if they have a definite meaning, by general acceptation in common use, then, that definite, obvious meaning is to be adopted in Judicial interpretation. I think two or three examples will suffice to establish this point. A merchant ships 1000 bushels of wheat from Milwaukee to Buffalo, for sale; the transportation costs 10 cents per bushel, amounting to $100; insurance $25; in all $125; the wheat sells in Buffalo at $1,50 per bushel. Now the entire proceeds are $1500. What are the "clear proceeds?" Obviously, by common acceptation $1375, the amount of the entire proceeds, less, the cost of transportation and insurance. A farmer in the country has 100 cords of wood—he procures it to be drawn to the city for sale at $1,00 per cord—the wood brings $2,50 per cord. The entire proceeds of the 100 cords are $250. Expense of hauling $100. What are the "clear proceeds?" I say again, obviously, by common acceptation, $150, the amount of the entire proceeds, less the costs of transportation.

J. D. D.

A man purchases a farm to-day for $3000, sells it to-morrow for $3500, and says according to common acceptation, I have cleared $500, by the operation, that is, gained so much over and above the amount invested. In the same way, and with like results, examples might be multiplied through all the business relations of life. Can there be a doubt then that the clear proceeds are not the entire proceeds where expenses are incurred? Now, what are the clear proceeds of all fines, &c? In resolving this question, it becomes necessary to ascertain what expenses attend the collection of fines, and by whom they are incurred. Let us appeal to an example again. Complaint is made in the Police Court of this city charging A., with keeping a house of ill fame—witnesses are summoned, the District Attorney attends and conducts the prosecution, and an examination is had before the Police Court, which results in the binding of A over for his appearance before the Circuit Court—he is indicted by the Grand Jury, tried by the petit jury and convicted—by the Court he is sentenced to pay a fine of $100, and pays his fine. Now the County of Milwaukee pay the District Attorney and Police Justice a salary, which they are compelled to do by law. It also pays the grand and petit jurors, sheriff and witnesses; the time of these officers and persons, have been occupied at the expense of the county, in the examination and trial of this case in the two courts. Now what are the clear proceeds of this fine over and above the cost of collection; and if the expenses can be apportioned by law to make the apportionment, and ascertain the amount in this individual case of the "clear proceeds?" Take the same case and apply it to the county of Jefferson, or any other county, and the result is the same, with the exception that the Justice of the Peace receives fees instead of a salary.

In the case supposed, it will be found that the expenses considerably exceed the amount of the fine, if the trial occupies one day in the Circuit Court. But this is not the main difficulty. It would appear from the language of the constitution that you can not single out each individual case for computation—it says, "the clear proceeds of all fines collected in the several counties for any breach of the penal laws." Here it will be noticed that the language is general and applies to all fines and penal laws, with the exception that it singles out the counties in which they are collected. This would appear to give us another insight to the meaning attached to the words "clear proceeds" by the framers of the constitution. As the counties incur the expenses of the collection, they are possessed of the proper and only data to their records, by which the "clear proceeds" could be ascertained, that is, the excess of fines over and above the expenses of enforcing the penal laws for their collection. And here, while considering the general language used in the constitution, and that each single case of fines cannot be singled out from which to compute the clear proceeds, I wish to cite what I consider high authority upon this question of construction and which appears to bear strongly upon this question. I refer to the official opinion of the Attorney General of the United States delivered on the 26th of September 1853, in relation to "The compact between the United States and the State of Texas, on the subject of the payments to be made to the latter by the former of two sums of five millions of stock each, &c." He says, "It has been suggested that "the pledge of all the revenues does not come up "to the conditions of the act of congress, "for "which duties on imports were specially pledged." "I feel constrained, however, to agree fully with "the reasoning of Mr. Corwin as to this point.—"Omne majus in se minus continet—the whole in-"cludes all the parts.

"If a pledge of all revenues be not a pledge of "duties on imports, then it is no pledge of any-"thing; for you may strike out of its purview "each and every species comprehended in the "genus "revenue," by force of the same reason-"ing which strikes out duties on imports; and "the effect would be to annul, and altogether de-"feat, the whole purpose of the law given."

Applying the great principle here enunciated upon high authority, of undoubted law, how can we single out any individual penal law, or any single source of expense to the county in their enforcement, in computing the amount of the clear proceeds of fines that pertain to the School Fund? But on the contrary should not the expenses of enforcing the penal laws be first deducted by the particular county from the amount of all fines received, and the surplus, if any, the clear proceeds, apply to the School Fund. These clear proceeds of fines, and none other pertain to the separate fund defined and set apart by the constitution for the School Fund. Nor is it in the power of the Legislature to add to, or diminish, this separate fund; and any act of theirs seeking to do this would be void, as contravening the provisions of the constitution. I have thus embodied my views upon this subject as briefly as I could, and have advanced no principle of construction which every good lawyer will not at once recognize as sound law, with the hope of calling the attention of the law making as well as law executing authority to the subject, so that our State whilst yet in its comparative infancy may adopt thus early, upon this matter, a correct construction of the CONSTITUTION.

Murder is Bailable.

Editors of the Sentinel:—I have seen an article in your paper of yesterday in which the writer discusses the question: "Is murder a bailable offence." There is more poor logic and unsound doctrine in the article than I desire to comment upon—and I shall only point out the defect of his main argument. He insists that the law, abolishing the death penalty, has not made murder bailable, but that the judges have made it so by a misinterpretation of the constitution. That misinterpretation consists in a false definition of the term "capital," which is used in the constitution to describe the offences not bailable.

It seems our judges have decided that this word "capital" applies only to offences punishable with death, and that therefore the law of last winter, abolishing the death penalty, makes all offences, including murder, bailable. Your correspondent differs from our judges as to the meaning of the word, and that is the "head and front of their offending." He admits that the word has a legal signification, as applied to offences, conferring it to such only as are punishable by death, but contends that it also has a popular signification extending it to all such crimes as are highest in grade. If the term really has a legal, technical acceptation, our judges must of course be bound by it, whether there be a popular acceptation differing from it or not; but we deny the existence of any conflict whatever between its legal and popular acceptations. They are the same.—No one before has ever used the term as descriptive of any but offences punishable with death.—Whether farmers or lawyers framed the constitution, is not, therefore, a legitimate inquiry.

It would be absurd and unsafe to give the term, the signification contended for by your correspondent; for there are various crimes that might very well be described by the term "principal," and our courts would be invested with a dangerous discretion in determining their nature and number. Arson, highway robbery, rape, and many others, some of which are capital offences in other states, would soon be set down among the offences not bailable. The fact that our statutes do not make these as great crimes as they are regarded elsewhere, does not abate from the force of this statement, as the constitution was made before the statutes, and its framers could not anticipate the action of our legislatures. The word principal has no legal or popular signification whatever as applied to crimes. The word "capital" has, and the only construction which our judges can give to it, in accordance with the rules established for their direction, has been already adopted. Murder is a bailable offence, and cannot be made otherwise, except by an alteration of the constitution, or a restoration of the death penalty.

☞ Officer Pinkerton of Chicago left on the cars yesterday morning for home. He has been in this city on professional business, and has quite recovered from the injuries he received from a shot fired at him in the streets of Chicago a few months since. Mr. Pinkerton has proved himself to be one of the best officers in the West, and it is no mystery that the evil doers should feel anxious to dispose of him. Some of the arrests made by him although well authenticated have more the air of romance than reality. Some of them we may some day publish as matters interesting to our readers.

"FINES AND THEIR CLEAR PROCEEDS."—We would call the attention of our readers to the article signed CONSTITUTION; which will be found in our columns to-day. We think it disposes at once of the suggestion in the GOVERNOR'S message, and will well repay a perusal, particularly by members of the bar.

☞ By imperial decree all the linen, &c., of the French army is to be washed by steam apparatus.—The process has been essayed with manifold advantage in some of the military hospitals. The economy of time and money is considerable, also the sanitary benefit for the troops.

☞ There are a number of candidates already at Madison, electioneering members of the legislature for the office of "Emigrant Commissioner." If the legislature consults the wishes of the people, we are sure it will abolish the office forthwith. —Kenosha Telegraph.

POLICE COURT—Jan. 18

For the past few days, business has been extremely light in the Police Court. We don't wish to make reflections—but it is a significant fact, full of meaning, that when our Legislature is in session—particularly at its commencement—and when the members of the city are absent—with the attending lobby members, police business invariably decreases.

Incidents at the Wood Market.

The Press of our city have been furnished with a number of items in the news line, growing out of an opposition to the wood ordinance and the carrying into effect its provisions. Some new ideas and incidents have occurred at the market, which may be interesting to our readers.

A few days ago, several men were conversing near that spot and those steps of the Market House, made sacred by the burning eloquence which flowed for poor Koszta, (it was singular that meeting was held just before the election for County Judge) on the constitutionality of the wood ordinance. One man present, vociferously remarked, that he had read the constitution clear through, and he couldn't find a word in it, authorising the measuring of wood, and he did'nt believe the ordinance was constitutional. This reminds us of a man a few years since, when the subject of slavery was being discussed, who remarked, that, if they would show him anything in the Bible, against holding slaves in the United States, he would join the Abolitionists right off.

Another, a gentlemanly appearing man came to the Inspector and offered him a half dime (the price of inspecting and measuring a load of wood and giving a ticket for the same), saying that he had bought it and didn't wish it measured; the Inspector refused the money, remarking that he couldn't take money for measuring wood he hadn't seen; the man worked himself into a passion, and so conducted himself in the presence of a large number of wood sellers, sawyers and others, as to leave the impression that his offering was intended as a catch, by which the Inspector would be overreached and thereby forfeit his office; the man went off much disconcerted, and appeared to feel as though he had been the dupe of some person who didn't appear in the scene openly.

Another, a man complained that the Inspector made his load too small by twelve feet, the Inspector offered him six dollars a cord, for all there was on the load more than the ticket called for, if the seller would cord the wood and have it measured in the rank. The refusal of the seller to accept the Inspector's offer, convinced the bystanders that he was bound not to be suited.

But the sellers are now complying with the ordinance, and all we've conversed with on the subject are satisfied, that the ordinance is what it was intended for, a benefit to the seller and buyer both.

The Grand Lodge I. O. O. F. met last evening, and we understand the representation from every section of the state to be full, numbering about one hundred and fifty,

I. O. O. F.—The following Officers were installed by D. D. G. M., Charles Kuepper, for the present Term:

Milwaukee, Lodge No. 2.—W. W. Yate, N. G.; J. D. Spalding, V. G.; Russel Eddy, R. S.; C. P. Toate, Treas.; C. A. Place, P. S.

NO. ONE'S FESTIVAL AND BALL AT YOUNG'S HALL.—The FESTIVAL AND BALL of Engine Co., No. 1. takes place at Young's Hall this evening. Every preparation has been made for a splendid affair—the Hall is already tastefully decorated with Flags, Evergreens, &c., a supper of an unusual character will be provided—music of the first order and all the other do's, to ensure for the third annual party of No. 1 a large attendance.

☞ Senator Douglass' bill for organizing the Territory of Nebraska, is an interesting and important legislative item. Upon it, we are told, a vast amount of intellectual labor has been expended, and that the Free Soil Democrats are pledged (the office-holding ones) to vote for it. This bill, and the accompanying report, make the Compromise measures of 1850, the "higher law," so as to override and annul the Compromise of 1820. By the Compromise of 1820, admitting Missouri as a State, it was solemnly covenanted and agreed that neither slavery nor involuntary servitude shall ever exist in our North West Territories—territory named in the Compromise as lying north of 36 degrees and 30 minutes north latitude—but this Nebraska bill boldly repudiates the solemn compacts in the Compromise of 1820, in favor of Free Soil, and by virtue of the Compromise of 1850, declares and provides that the Nebraska portion of this soil, forever dedicated to liberty, "shall be received (as a State) into the union with or without Slavery," as their Constitution may prescribe at the time of admission. The vote upon this bill and the character of its reception outside of Congress, will illustrate the corrupting and adhesive influences of the "public plunder," and it is very confidently asserted, hereabouts, that the Free Soil Democrats are so delighted in participating largely in governmental power and patronage, that their favor and support of any and all measures for slave extension are more certainly relied on, than those of any other class or faction.

IMPORTANT TO LUMBERMEN.—Parties who have saw mills in the country east of the Mississippi in Wisconsin, ceded by the Menomonees, which were erected there while in the occupancy of the Indians, by consent of the War Department, now claim that they only have the right to cut and work up timber on the public domain there. The Commissioners of the General Land Office is understood not only to have ignored this claim (which is based on an alleged agreement with the Menomonees,) but also to have ruled under existing laws any parties whatever attempting to cut lumber on public lands without express authority from Congress, are liable to prosecution by Government.—State Journal.

DEATH.—We regret to announce that at the fire or soon after a young man by the name of Helpin, received a blow on the head from which he died at twelve o'clock on Thursday. The coroner's verdict we shall probably have for our next.—Racine Advocate.

Row and Death.

We regret being compelled to record a disgraceful affair which occurred in our city on the night of the Fire, which resulted in the death of one of the members of the Hook and Ladder Co. —Bernard Halpin. After the fire had been extinguished the Hook and Ladder Co., got to drinking, and by the time they arrived at their house they were pretty merry. Bernard commenced singing a song, when he was interrupted by a oung man named William Davis. The result was the two got into a fight, during which all left the building with the exception of the brothers Halpin. They endeavored to fasten the doors so as to prevent the entrance of the rest, but the doors were forced open by a portion of the Company, assisted by several Welchmen. During the melee Bernard was struck on the head with an axe, by whom, cannot as yet be ascertained. He was taken home immediately and Dr. Jonks sent for.—When he arrived the young man was sensible, and did not show that he was injured very seriously. The Doctor prescribed for him and left soon after; however Halpin became insensible and died about half past twelve Thursday. A Coroners inquest was held on the body, who rendered a verdict that the deceased came to his death by a blow on the head given by some person unknown. One has been arrested, but probably nothing can be found against him. We have been thus particular in detailing the circumstances in order to correct any erroneous reports which might be afloat, in regard to the matter. We hope the matter will be probed to the bottom, and the guilty one found and punished.—Racine Democrat

PROSPECTUS OF

Thos. H. Benton's Great Work.

THIRTY YEAR'S VIEW, of the workings of the American System of Government. Published by D. APPLETON & Co., New York, and sold exclusively by subscription.

During the last thirty years there has been no important public measure in which this active and distinguished statesman has not taken an able and decisive part, and been familiar with the influences, whether secret or public, which have controlled or governed the opposed evils. He is therefore well qualified to write the history of this period.

This work will be completed in two volumes, the first of which will be published early in the year 1854, and will be brought down to the close of the administration of Gen. Jackson, and will thus form a complete work by itself, containing about 700 double columns, royal 8 vo. pages, and a superbly engraved portrait of Senator Benton.

Price $2,50, payable on delivery of the book.

The book of subscription, together with specimen sheets, can be found at the law office of Messrs. TUCKER & GARVEY, (Sentinel office) where all those wishing to obtain the work will soon give an opportunity to persons desirous of subscribing to do so at their residences and places of business throughout the city and county. jan13

After using the 3 bottles, he has become well, and now labors every day. He told me lately, that Hunter's Scotch Syrup was the means and only means of his cure. I have given it to infants, to children, to adults, and have the pleasure to inform you that it has done good in every case. I shall do
